

ANIMAL CARCASS MICROBIAL REDUCTION METHOD

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention is a method of reducing microbial levels during meat production. The method includes applying an antimicrobial agent to the animal hide, before removal of the hide from the carcass. The method may further include rinsing and drying the animal hide.